General instructions

A North Dakota income tax credit is allowable based on the federal income tax credit attributable to qualified adoption expenses incurred under I.R.C. 26 Ch. 23. Qualified federal adoption expenses and the federal tax credit are reported on federal Form 8839.

The North Dakota credit is 10% of the federal adoption credit allowed against federal income tax for the tax year. The credit is limited to 50% of the individual's North Dakota income tax liability (before tax credits).

The unused portion of state credit may be carried over and used on subsequent tax years' returns for up to three years.
